evidence and paint a picture for the jury that resonates and reinforces their case.

The firm adopted TrialDirector four years ago and uses it in all major trials, including a recent $148 million personal injury award and a $50 million dollar birth injury award.

Ipro is proud to be part of the toolkit involved in such impressive outcomes, and we continue to improve and enhance the product to allow firms like Salvi to do important work."

Prior to using TrialDirector, Salvi Law relied on foam boards and doc viewers, but since making the transition, they have far more control and flexibility over their presentations. The firm attributes TrialDirector's seamless flow, the ability to call up exhibits on the fly, video deposition tools, and how easily the presentation integrates with the attorney's dialogue, helping them tell their story for a powerful impact on the jury, and providing a positive outcome for their clients.

"Ipro is proud to be part of the toolkit involved in such impressive outcomes," said Derek Miller, VP Desktop Solutions at Ipro. "And we continue to improve and enhance the product to allow firms like Salvi to do important work."

TrialDirector 360[®] is available as a stand-alone application or as part of the Ipro (Desktop) solution. Both were available for demonstration at the company's annual user conference, Ipro Tech Show, held at Talking Stick Resort in Scottsdale, Arizona, April 29 – May 1.
