

Systematic Affair Recovery Therapy (SART)™: A Cross-Cultural Approach for Treating Infidelity

The California Association for Licensed Professional Clinical Counselors (CALPCC) proudly presents (SART)™ at the 2019 Annual 2-day Conference.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, May 28, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Counseling and allied disciplines with diverse interests and specialty areas are invited to come together to reaffirm the field's commitment, passion and energy toward improving the lives of those served. CALPCC's stand firmly for a socially conscious, inclusive and just society and welcome mental health professionals in affirming their commitment to those who they serve through collaboration, growth and change. The conference will be held at the California State University, Northridge campus on May 31 & June 1, 2019. The theme of this year's conference is counseling in a divisive society.

Counseling in a Divisive Society: Collaboration, Growth, and Change

Systematic Affair Recovery Therapy (SART)™: A cross cultural approach for treating infidelity. June 1st 2019

“It is an honor to be invited to speak at the CALPCC’s 2019 conference. Counselors have been in search of a culturally competent and adaptive approach to treating infidelity that goes beyond the common preexisting Western, heteronormative bias. This is why I made it a point to incorporate the impact of the sociocultural factors on how we conceptualize infidelity in the Systematic Affair Recovery Therapy treatment framework,” says Dr. Alsaleem.

Infidelity is a prevalent and cross-cultural human behavior. The phenomenon of infidelity has been in existence since the beginning of recorded human history and possibly earlier.”
