(FDFW) Florida Chapter distributed over 1,200 Truth About Drugs drug education booklets at the beach and other neighborhoods in Clearwater this past week in a bid to keep kids safe and drug-free as summer looms.

It's important that parents also get educated about drugs, so they can talk to their kids about it as teens whose parents talk to them about drugs are 42% less likely to use drugs.”

“The summer is a time kids should enjoy and have fun and there should be no need or place for drugs,” said Julieta Santagostino the President of FDFW Florida Chapter.

Recent statistics by two organizations grappling with addiction punctuated the need for educating youth. The Addiction Center relayed that half of all new drug users are under the age of 18 and the majority of adults with an addiction first experimented with drugs before they turned 21[1]. The Center on Addiction noted that more than 90% of people with a substance problem began smoking, drinking or using other drugs before age 18[2].

“It's important that parents also get educated about drugs, so they can talk to their kids about it as teens whose parents talk to them about drugs are 42% less likely to use drugs,” said Santagostino.

The Foundation for a Drug-Free World provides free drug education materials to anyone who would like to help educate youth or their community on the dangers of drugs. This includes 14 different information booklets on the most commonly abused drugs and a documentary DVD “Real People Real Stories.”

The Florida chapter of the Foundation for a Drug-Free World also offers free seminars every Wednesdays at 7:00PM in their information center located at 41 N. Fort Harrison Ave in Clearwater.
