Bucks County HVAC Service

The best HVAC company in the Bucks County area!”

In addition to quality air conditioning service, we also install and service air scrubbers in Bucks County. With an air scrubber, your HVAC system will provide the cleanest air to your home or office. A scrubber cleans the reclaimed air passing through your A Coil before coming back out through your supply ducts, allowing you to breath better and live a longer, healthier life. Installing this helps remove pollen so any allergic customers can also breath a lot better in the comfort of their homes.

Don't waste time waiting on someone miles and miles away to show up to your home after the seasons over, when you can call up HTR Mechanical, located nearby in Levittown, PA to service your HVAC system today.

With air conditioning repairs and regular air conditioning maintenance checks from HTR Mechanical, a great air conditioning system can last over 20 years if it is taken care of properly. Are you noticing poor airflow, weird sounds or smells, or a lack of cool air? These are all issues that you want to address immediately, as well as any damage to the unit. Getting to the root of the problem immediately will help to avoid other, more serious issues. HTR Mechanical is close enough to your home to send a specialist to service your unit as needed, to help you address any potential problems leading to your air conditioning system to be repaired or replaced. They want you to have complete peace of mind that your air conditioning system will continue to work, despite even the hottest part of the summer.

We serve customers throughout the residential market and commercially to local business surrounding our service area. For those colder winter months, check out our humidifiers we supply for customers with dry heat systems looking to improve the overall feel of their heat system.
