The 4th BFC EU Conference (October 7-9, Dublin) will help you to identify how emerging technologies will redefine financial services.

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, July 2, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Are you interested in how disruptive technologies will impact financial services? If so, the 4th BFC EU Conference (October 7-9, Dublin) will help you to identify how emerging technologies will redefine financial services to better position you for the future. <http://bit.ly/2J6UGr9>

The image shows the cover of the BFC EU brochure. At the top, it reads "4th ANNUAL BFC2019 EU DUBLIN OCT 07-09 DLT AND EMERGING TECH CONFERENCE". Below this, the main title is "Redefining Finance through DLT & Emerging Tech". The cover features five statistics: "300+ SENIOR LEVEL DELEGATES", "50+ EXPERT SPEAKERS", "15+ LIVE DEMO STATIONS", "40+ FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS", and "150+ COMPANIES REPRESENTED". Underneath, it lists "KEYNOTE SPEAKERS INCLUDE" with six portraits and names: Markus Tradt (CTO, B3i), David Dalton (Partner Consulting, Deloitte), Mariana Gómez de la Villa (Global Program Manager, Blockchain, ING), Michael Coletta (Lead Blockchain Architect & Developer - Emerging Technologies, LSEG), Marley Gray (Principal Architect - Azure Blockchain Engineering, Microsoft), and Arthur Breitman (Co-Founder, Tezos). At the bottom, it lists "SPONSORS AND PARTNERS" with logos for Deloitte, BARCLAYS, citi, Citi Innovation Labs, IDA Ireland, and we.trade.

BFC EU Brochure Cover

This year, BFC EU will examine a host of disruptive technologies including distributed ledgers, artificial intelligence, cloud and big data to help you determine the most suitable technologies for your business needs.

Conference highlights include:

- Explore how, what and where technologies are transforming finance, with contributions from Dash, Digital Asset, FNZ, Microsoft, Nivaura, Ripple and Tezos to keep abreast of latest technological advancements
- Overcome key challenges around regulations, standards, scalability, interoperability and infrastructure to ensure smooth progression on the road to production
- Consider how emerging technologies are disrupting trade finance, digital identity & capital markets and where current inefficiencies could benefit from the use of new tech
- Further your understanding of technological developments by joining Deloitte's interactive breakout sessions and get to grips with the basics of coding
- Discuss the future of payments and data storage through lunch and learn workshops hosted by Citi and Barclays and see why innovation is so important to these incumbent banks
- Join us at Deloitte's Blockchain Lab for VIP pre-conference drinks to build new partnerships and connections in the emerging tech space

At BFC EU, you'll have the opportunity to network with 300+ senior level delegates from banking, financial services, technology companies and fintechs such as B3i, Bank of Ireland, Binance, Blockchain, ING, London Stock Exchange, Rabobank, we.trade & more.
