

Linx Vapor Introduces New Linx Eden Dual Use Vaporizer - The Best Convection Vaporizer for under $100

LOS ANGELES, CA, USA, June 26, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Innovation and health-centric premium vaporizer company Linx Vapor is proud to announce a powerful budget convection vaporizer, the Linx Eden, for $99.99.

Inspired by a minimalistic design, the Eden is stripped down to only the essentials, flavor and vapor. The device is packed with the latest technologies to optimize flavor delivery, including a true 100% convection heating system, pure quartz chamber, and dual use capabilities - allowing simultaneous use of both dry herb and concentrates with the included "Lava Plate" concentrate pads. The Linx Eden can truly unlock the flavor of the herb.

Linx has always been pioneers on the forefront of health consciousness and strives to minimize the use of plastics in its entire product line. The Eden is no exception. It uses air instead of silica gel to insulate heat production. Furthermore, Linx has completely removed the plastic insulation section in the chamber itself. Such design is so unique and novel that it separates Linx from the mainstream vaporizers.

As the newest dry herb vaporizer from Linx Vapor, the Eden also features a convection heating element that helps to improve efficiency by conserving the freshness of the flower within its large chamber. Since this heating method doesn't waste as many terpenes, the Eden is perfect for users of any skill level who value flavor and affordability.

The Eden's long list of attributes for the price are unrivaled. Every Linx Eden features four preprogrammed temperature settings and comes complete with an interchangeable silicone sleeve, magnetic mouthpiece cap, cleaning brush, glass mouthpiece, USB charger, filter screens and medical grade stainless steel

Flavor, health and craftsmanship are three words that have become synonymous with the Linx Vapor name and as always, the Eden is continuing that tradition.
