

Mini Ductless Split Units Are A Great Solution to Cool an Older House in Bucks County

When looking to heat or cool an older room or house that you don't want to gut the walls and ceiling to run new ductwork, check out our ductless split units.

LEVITTOWN, PA, UNITED STATES, July 7, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HTR Mechanical is now installing air conditioners for customers throughout Bucks County, Pennsylvania. For the past couple of years, HTR has helped many residents get their air conditioners serviced and or replaced with new HVAC units to heat and cool their whole house for a very reasonable price. From whole house air conditioner service to mini ductless split units, HTR Mechanical is your premier choice local licensed and insured Heating and Air conditioner contractor.

Do you have a part of your house that just doesn't get great air conditioning? A sunroom that gets too hot in the summer? A ductless split HVAC unit may be the perfect solution to help balance that 70 degrees you are looking for year round. You may ask what is a ductless split unit? Mini ductless split units in Bucks County work just like conventional heat pump units where there is still an indoor unit with a blower creating your supply, with an exterior unit or commonly called the outdoor unit, but you don't need custom ducts ran throughout your walls or ceiling. This type of air conditioning unit is perfect for a pre-existing room or an older house that has rooms that you would rather not cut into the walls and ceiling to run ducts to the registers you would like to supply with heat and air conditioning. There are also very reasonable in comparison to conventional heat pump units, while remaining quite powerful too!
