

Port Of San Diego's U.S. Sand Sculpting Challenge Returns For Labor Day

The U.S. Sand Sculpting Challenge & Dimensional Art Exposition is back for their 8th year of family fun.

SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, July 9, 2019 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Spend your labor day weekend at San Diego's waterfront downtown, watch the sand sculptors work, check out featured artists and their one-of-a-kind decor for home and garden at the U.S. Sand Sculpting Challenge & Dimensional Art Exposition. This family-oriented festival also includes live entertainment, a Kid Zone, and over a dozen food and drink selections. This 8th annual extravaganza is a signature event of the Port of San Diego.

Every year, this event dumps over 300 tons of sand on the Broadway Pier where 12 Master Class Sculptors, seven from countries around the world and five from the United States, will be featured competing for the title and a grand prize of $60,000. Families and friends can spend their weekend not only with amazing views, but watching quality sculptures being made only from sand and water, reaching up to 15ft tall and sometimes weighing over 20,000 lbs.

It's not just sand, if you are an art fanatic, you will enjoy the dimensional art exposition throughout the weekend. There will be over 2,000 original pieces for you to select from, 45-48 different artists, anything from hand-made clothing to metal art and glassware. Many of the finest artists in the Southwest from as far away as New Mexico and Montana, will exhibit and sell their amazing one-of-a-kind art on the pier next to the majestic sand sculpture creations.

This year's event theme is "Wonder" which pays tribute to the Port's Wonderfront 2019 events that also include Wonderspaces, an art exhibit running all summer through Labor Day weekend, and the Wonderfront Music Festival, coming to the waterfront in November.
