

General Dynamics Land Systems and TriCIS announced to sponsor & exhibit at Future Armoured Vehicles Survivability 2019

Smi reports: GD European Land Systems and TriCIS announced to sponsor Future Armoured Vehicles Survivability alongside Leonardo, KME & Pearson Engineering

LONDON, LONDON BRIDGE, UNITED KINGDOM, July 15, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SMi Group's 5th annual Future Armoured Vehicles Survivability 2019 taking place in London, between the 12th and 14th November 2019, will host technical industry sponsors, speakers and exhibitors providing militaries bespoke solutions to their challenges.

The three-day event is delighted to welcome latest sponsors General Dynamics European Land Systems and TriCIS who will both be presenting insightful briefings on armoured vehicle survivability.

General Dynamics European Land Systems' products include heavy armoured wheeled and tracked vehicles, amphibious bridge and ferry systems, as well as repair, maintenance and servicing of military vehicles "made in Europe." Through their partnership with their sister company General Dynamics Mission Systems, they also offer C4I components, vehicle-supported communications and information systems, as well as complete solutions in the field of digitalization of ground forces (D-LBO).

Mr Jens Schroeter, Director Product Strategy and Mr Michal Bieniek, Head of Heavy Platforms & Protection Systems from General Dynamics European Land Systems will present: "Evolving to Meet Operational Requirements by Integrating Survivability and Mobility Technologies". They will discuss: Modular exchangeable protection, Mine protection and anti-tank protection systems and Active Protection System integration potential.

TriCIS and Dell EMC are working together with the Ministry of Defence, Defence Systems Integrators and Defence Contractors in simplifying the acquisition of secure, agile solutions tailored for the demands of defending national interests.

Dell EMC's Global Defence teams and TriCIS help to design, manufacture and customise products and services to meet precise and demanding military requirements. Delivering comprehensive
