LONDON, GREATER LONDON, UK, July 19, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The machinery manufacturing market expected to reach a value of nearly $5705.91 billion by 2022, significantly growing at a CAGR of 19.9% during the forecast period. The growth in the machinery manufacturing market is due to high demand for general purpose machinery such as pumps, compressors, elevators, metros, and packaging machinery, global investments in agriculture, construction, and power generation industries. However, the market for machinery manufacturing is expected to face certain restraints from several factors such as global recession, interest rate increases and removal of subsidies.

The machinery manufacturing market consists of sales of industrial and commercial machinery by entities (organizations, sole traders or partnerships) that produce industrial and commercial machinery. These establishments assemble parts into components, sub-assemblies and complete machines.
