The laser skin procedures he uses rely on pulsed light to target deep layers and provide longer-lasting results than chemical peels or microdermabrasion.

The team at Pinsky Plastic Surgery tailor individual treatment plans to meet the unique needs of their clients. First, Mark A. Pinsky evaluates each individual so that he can determine whether they will benefit the most from laser resurfacing. In addition to tailoring a procedure schedule to achieve the best results, the team at Pinsky Plastic Surgery will recommend customized skincare regimens for before and after procedures (such as Mark A. Pinsky's patented skin3 line).

Broadband light treatments offered at Pinsky Plastic Surgery utilize specific wavelengths to treat many skin conditions on the surface. The procedure uses filters to select the correct wavelength needed to combat signs of aging and repair damaged skin. While it's effective at repairing fine lines and wrinkles, the treatment also can correct the damage done from the sun and improve the appearance of lesions such as age spots and freckles.

"Laser skin treatments are quickly becoming the ultimate solution for beautiful, youthful skin," says Mark A. Pinsky.
