

Security Robot at Sydney Expo 2019

Australia's first "full-fledged" security robot

SYDNEY, NSW, AUSTRALIA, August 5, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Bunda Security Robot, claimed to be Australia's first "full-fledged" security robot has been introduced to the market by Southern Cross Group, an integrated facility services company.

Sized at 1370mm x 750mm and with a maximum speed of 14km/h, the Bunda Robot is a remote-controlled vehicle which builds patrol maps and is monitored remotely through PC or mobile devices.

Equipped with a range of sensors, it includes 360-degree video monitoring, facial recognition camera, lidar sensors to avoid obstacles and mapping, emergency call button, audio/lighting alerts and voice alerts.

Bunda, meaning 'hawk' in Gadigal language, is one to watch as the company continues to develop the robot's application and capabilities.
