MELBOURNE, VICTORIA, AUSTRALIA, August 29, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Red Piranha Limited

(Red Piranha), Australia's first next-generation firewall developer, and Downer Defence are pleased to announce they have entered into a technology partnership, combining Downer's technology and security expertise with Red Piranha's Crystal Eye® advanced Unified Threat Management (UTM) solution.

I'm excited about the partnership and the opportunity for Red Piranha to deploy Crystal Eye, a truly integrated holistic information security program, into such important critical infrastructure"

CEO*

Red Piranha is an Australian owned and operated manufacturer of leading-edge security products for small to medium businesses through to large multinationals. Red Piranha's flagship product, Crystal Eye®, is a powerful UTM solution enabling Security Orchestration, Automation and Response (SOAR) as a service.

The partnership will see Downer and Red Piranha commence designing a 'proof of concept' to be deployed into a pilot program later in the year.

Downer Executive General Manager, Practice Capability, Dan Murray, said, "With cyber security a concern spanning all business sectors, companies recognise the importance of implementing sophisticated defence capabilities."

"As part of Downer's delivery of services to the national security and critical infrastructure sectors, we are focused on improving the security posture of assets in what is an increasingly complex threat environment. We look forward to working with Red Piranha to develop a product that will offer a simple and integrated approach to delivering enhanced levels of risk visibility and security assurance for industrial customers," he said.

Red Piranha's CEO, Adam Bennett said: "I'm excited about the partnership and Red Piranha's chance to deploy Crystal Eye®, a truly integrated holistic information security program, with a major integrated services provider for critical infrastructure.

"For the past two decades we have increased our use of technology in everyday lives and business. This uptake of technology has seen the attack surface scale and grow exponentially at the same time. The way we have attempted to deal with this problem up until now is to throw more people at the security problem. This doesn't scale and is the opposite of leverage. At Red Piranha we strive to develop technology that allows us to scale with the problem, addressing fundamental flaws in the current approach at dealing with enterprise cyber security issues," said

Mr Bennett.
