

State of Nevada Association of Addiction Professionals to Host Annual Symposium

The Event for Behavioral Healthcare Professionals and Students Will Take Place on Friday, September 14 with a "Vulnerable Populations" Theme.

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA, UNITED STATES, August 8, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The State of Nevada Association of Addiction Professionals \(SNAAP\) will be hosting its annual symposium for behavioral healthcare professionals and students to attend on Friday, September 14, 2019, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. This year's theme will center around "Vulnerable Populations."

The symposium will include 6 Continuing Education Courses (CEU), networking opportunities, information on upcoming relevant legislation, and a broader discussion on treatment, and access to treatment for vulnerable populations.

"Despite strong efforts from thousands of individuals all over the country, the addiction epidemic continues to grow," says David Marlon, LADC, President of SNAAP. "This is an event where all the Nevada treatment providers get together and learn. We exchange ideas and plans that are critically important for us to successfully overcome this disease as a community. If you are in the mental health or behavioral health field in Nevada, you'll want to be at this event."
