“Our team has earned the kudos for this designation. I started The Squires Group 24 years ago, and through the upticks and the downturns, our team has never wavered on our core values of professionalism, integrity, and trust,” says Nancy Squires, CEO of TSGi. “Over the decades, technology, business processes, and team players change, but we simply change with them and continue our focus on delivering value to both our clients and consultants. My partner, Eric Galasso, and I believe in helping our clients build great teams. We also understand the importance of developing long-term relationships with our consultants and clients. It’s because of these relationships, coupled with our system of delivering excellence, that we will celebrate our 25th Anniversary in July of 2020,” adds Nancy.
