The equipment and machinery sector have been experiencing rapid growth of late because of the increasing instances of urbanization globally. The process of urbanization drives the development of real estate, roads, healthcare facilities, schools, and commercial spaces. Medium and small builders often receive funds from the government for delivering such activities. Also, they require some machineries temporarily. Hence, the concept of rented or used equipment and machineries are gaining momentum today. Besides, the increasing rate of technological advancement is gradually replacing the heavy equipment and machinery sector with lightweight and handy tools providing equal amount of efficiency.
