Yogurt is a food produced by bacterial fermentation of milk. The bacteria used to make yogurt are known as yogurt cultures. Fermentation of lactose by these bacteria produces lactic acid, which acts on milk protein to give yogurt its texture and characteristic tart flavor. More and more population are lactose intolerant and lactose intolerance is the inability of grown-ups and kids to digest lactose, a sugar found in milk and other dairy products, bringing about various ailments. As a result, consumers look out for lactose-free dairy products for consumption as there are several health benefits associated with these products. This has led to an increase in the demand for non-dairy yogurt.
