Museum of Latin American Art (MOLAA) Annual Fundraiser Gala - Save the Date

"I am deeply honored to receive the first MOLAA LEGADO Philanthropy Award. The legacy of my career and the mission of MOLAA is highlighting the contributions in business and culture of Hispanics and Latinos to our nation. Together we are changing the narrative about the perception and impact of the Hispanic population and the critical role we play in America and the world. I am happy and proud to accept this award from MOLAA and am excited about what the future holds for MOLAA in this community and globally," said Trujillo.

In honor of Robert Graham, MOLAA will exhibit seven maquettes that represent the civic monuments designed by Robert Graham during his career. This will be the first time all seven maquettes are presented together in one exhibition. Curated by Noriko Fujinami, this exhibition will open the night of the 2019 Gala providing the evening's guest with an intimate view of Robert Graham's impact on communities throughout the USA.

"I would like to personally thank the Museum of Latin American Art for honoring my father Robert Graham this year with the LEGADO Lifetime Achievement Award," said Steven Graham. "I am also proud of the concurrent opening exhibition of Civic Monuments curated by Noriko Fujinami and would like to acknowledge MOLAA's kind support on behalf of the Estate."

This year MOLAA has the support of Randy Gordon, President and CEO of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, who has been a consistent supporter of the Museum. MOLAA is part of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, giving the institution a closer approach to a community that contributes a great deal to the social and economic growth of Long Beach.

"As this year's Gala Committee Chair, I am proud to support MOLAA and their efforts to promote Latin American and Latino Art and culture through fundraising events that support the achievements of individuals who exemplify the best of Latin American and Latino Heritage," said Gordon. "I'm also very excited to be their auctioneer for the 2nd year. Their live auction items are always amazing, and this year's entertainment is the world-famous Los Lobos band."

The Museum's mission and programs are generously supported by many partners including corporations, foundations, government agencies, members, and individual donors. The annual Gala is MOLAA's signature fundraiser with all proceeds benefitting the Museum's exhibitions and art education programs. MOLAA's 2019 Gala is generously sponsored by Robert Gumbiner Foundation, Thank Goodness It's Sofia (TGIS) Catering, Robert N.
