Introduction

Global CCTV Cameras Market

Security is necessary and needed both professionally and personally. Earlier security was perceived in physical forms such as bodyguards and security guards. But with the increase in digital attacks, terrorist attacks, and other security risks, the definition of Security has also changed. We need security for information in businesses, organizations, residential and industrial applications, and much more. The constant change in the types of threats led to the innovation of CCTV cameras which has helped prevent a lot of security risks and increased its market share as well.

The major boom in the CCTV cameras market was marked when the preference of people switched from analog surveillance to digital surveillance. Analog surveillance needed a physical presence at all locations, which is not the case with a CCTV camera. A network of cameras can be created that can survey multiple locations at once. There has already been a huge increase in demand for CCTV cameras in the industrial and business sector. As per multiple reports, a rise in CCTV demand is expected in the residential sector as well.

With increasing security threats, the market for CCTV has grown bi-folds. The global CCTV Cameras market is valued at xx million US$ in 2018 and expected to reach xx million US$ by the end of 2025. With an exceptional growth rate, we must see a lot of innovative CCTV products in the future from the manufacturers. Companies such as Bosch, Security Systems, Hanwha Techwin, FLIR Systems, Honeywell International, CP PLUS International, Sony, etc, have been recorded an increased market share and higher demand with every passing day.

Regions such as North America, Europe, China, and Japan have recorded the highest sales and usage of CCTV Cameras. Report from these countries indicates how in the last few decades, CCTV has been increasingly used in Residential, Commercial, Industrial and Government structures. CCTV cameras such as Dome Camera, Bullet Camera, Box Camera, PTZ Camera are some of the most common CCTV camera types used worldwide.

When it comes to Security, CCTV Cameras are the most crucial part of it. Without it, it's almost unlikely to keep an eye on everything at once. With increased market share in the commercial and industrial areas, many new CCTV products have been launched to attract residential customers. These products will mainly focus and cater to the needs of residential customers who require security cameras for their home. With the integrated voice and audio support, it becomes easier for people to interact with anyone through the CCTV camera, without being physically present in front of each other. With increased use in the non-commercial area in the coming years, the segment is expected to grow at a rate of xx% during 2019-2025.

The data for research was used to analyze the historical data and the prospects of the CCTV market. The use of CCTV technology will increase in the future with increased digitization and create a bigger market share as well.
