The L. Ron Hubbard East Coast Theatre performing the science-fiction story, "The Dangerous Dimension". Their upcoming performance, "The Professor Was a Thief" will take place on August 24, 2019, starting 6:30pm at the Scientology Information Center.

In the story, The Professor Was a Thief, famous landmarks across New York City are disappearing. The Empire State Building has vanished into thin air. Gone, too, are Grant's Tomb and Grand Central Station. No one seems to have the answers, and hysteria is breaking out across the city. It's up to a grizzled old newspaper reporter known as "Pop" to get to the bottom of the vanishing buildings, before the entire city disappears, along with his job. The story was first published in the February 1940 issue of Astounding Science Fiction magazine.

While The Professor Was a Thief is a fictional story, L. Ron Hubbard was no stranger to the hustle and bustle of New York City. As a matter of fact, between 1934 and 1936, Mr. Hubbard lived in a Greenwich Village basement apartment as a professional writer, just over 10 miles away from the famous landmarks he mentions in the story. Often called by the locals, "The Village," was an artists' haven and the "Bohemian capital" for many decades.

The L. Ron Hubbard East Coast Theatre is a volunteer group founded in 2011. Their shows combine actors, costumes, lighting and sound effects to bring the exciting pulp-fiction stories written by L. Ron Hubbard to life.

"This is the theatre's second sci-fi story performance at the Information Center," said Amber Skjelset, the center's manager. "If you like unique entertainment and enjoy the 'old-time radio show' flair, you're in for a treat!"

All are welcome but seating is limited. To reserve seats or to learn more about the event, contact Amber Skjelset, Manager of the Scientology Information Center at 727-467-6966 or amber@cos.flag.org.
