

Girls Volleyball Coming to EEACS

Girls volleyball is the latest sport to join EEACS's award-winning PIAA athletics program.

ALLENTOWN, PENNSYLVANIA, UNITED STATES, August 29, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Following an inaugural year of varsity and junior varsity PIAA athletics at Executive Education Academy Charter School in Allentown, a new team is seeking to win a district title. Girls varsity volleyball will make its debut during the fall season of the 2019-2020 school year.

Executive Education Charter School in Allentown is now offering girls volleyball.

An open gym will be held for high school girls interested in joining the team. The season will start on September 7 with a varsity tournament at Brandywine Heights High School.

"We can't wait to see what the team has in store this year," says Mark "Duke" Wagner, athletic director at EEACS. "We have a feeling it is going to be an exciting season."

In 2018, the Lehigh Valley charter school obtained PIAA status, allowing the school to compete against other public, private, and charter schools. In 2019, the school completed construction on its new 16,000 square-foot, 1,600 seat gymnasium.

Since obtaining PIAA status, the school has offered basketball, baseball, cheerleading, and wrestling. EEACS won a Basketball District Title in its first year of competition.
