

Veronica A. Wright of NU Concept Courier & Logistics to be Featured on CUTV News Radio

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, UNITED STATES, September 9, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Some people are doing exactly what they were put on this earth to do. Veronica A. Wright is one of those people.

Wright is the President & CEO of NU Concept Courier & Logistics, Atlanta's premier independent courier and logistics service. As an industry leader, NU Concept Courier delivers packages or freight anywhere in the United States. Whether it's an envelope or a truckload, customers can trust NU Concept Courier & Logistics for dependable deliveries 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

"When a package is delivered on time, it's like a touchdown; that's how I feel," says Wright. "When I take a job, I don't just take a job. This is my life. I put my whole life into this because I love what I do. We get a package from point A to point B on time, and we make our customers happy."

Though NU Concept Courier & Logistics has been around for 18 years, Wright has been in the industry for 35 years.

"One day someone asked me, 'You like to drive?' I said, 'I love to drive.' They said, 'Why don't you be a courier? It's just delivering packages.'" On my first day to deliver a package, my adrenaline was just pumping. I was like, 'This is good! I'm out of the office, in my car, making money. This is cool!'"

By the time she stopped driving in 1989, Wright was making $3,000 a week in her Volkswagen Bug. Small wonder Wright is known as the hardest-working woman in the industry.

"I just loved it. I loved it. We call it getting bit by the courier bug," recalls Wright. "I learned every ZIP code within at least 50, 60 miles of this city because I was told we get paid that way. And we didn't have GPS. We had to think, use common sense and read a map book. I learned how to dispatch. I did route work. customer service supervisor, administrative, which led to full management of a courier company. I was confident in handling it all."

While most courier services are focused on the bottom line, Wright's experience has allowed her to focus on the details. Today, NU Concept Courier & Logistics boasts a fleet of 50 drivers, a 6,000 square foot warehouse in Lawrenceville, GA and a location in Savannah, GA, with plans to expand to Houston, Charleston and Charlotte.

"Anything I do I put all myself into it," says Wright. "Ninety-five percent of my customers have never met me, I have no turnover, and I've got drivers with me for 20 years. At NCC we are one big happy family.

"I'm grateful for God. He just gave me every gift I needed to run this business and do a great job," says Wright. "I love my company so much and I want to see it last forever. I would never sell out because nobody's going to treat your family like you treat your family."

CUTV News Radio will feature Veronica A. Wright in an interview with Jim Masters on September 10th at 11am EDT and with Doug Llewelyn on September 17th at 11am EDT
