excited to release her authorial debut with her eBook entitled The Healing Light, which is tentatively scheduled for release later this year.

“People will use this book to learn about the energy body and how to meditate or deepen their experience of meditation by using meditation for healing. They will be able to bring Healing Light into their energy body on their own using specified guided meditations. They can be used daily or when dealing with emotional pain, or to raise the vibration of the energy body,” exclaims Fogarty. “Meditation is inherent in being human. Everyone knows on a soul level how to meditate but we have forgotten how to be still and connect with our inner-being. Meditation is essential – it connects us to our goodness”

“Over the years, I’ve developed the ability to tap into the emotional body so I can help to dissolve energy blocks that have formed as a result of emotional pain. Once we dissolve the energy blocks, we can move forward. Healing our pain allows the heart and mind to come together. When this happens, our light gets to shine.”
