executive and real estate investor millionaire.

Koloma has faced all her fears successfully and she has inspired generations of patients, cancer patients, disabled people and many others, who are fighting for their lives. She was born in 1972 in the former communist Czechoslovakia and single-handedly defeated a birth disability as her arm was completely displaced from its socket and nerves were disconnected at birth.

“Truth is not always welcome, but it is always necessary, and only truth can heal and set us free,” said Koloma, while talking about the importance of searching for real answers. “I was born handicapped into a communist regime and I was told that I can never heal or leave,” she added.

Koloma not only came to the United States but also successfully battled issues such as infertility, cancer and other serious health issues. She beat all the odds by herself and proved everyone wrong with determination and motivation.

Koloma is known by many as a fearless truth seeker, scientist and researcher in the field of biology, psychoneuroimmunology, quantum physics and orthobionomics (science of life). From being bed-ridden to becoming an internationally renowned public speaker and bestselling author, her journey comprises of many ups and downs, and she has inspired many around the world. Furthermore, she has extensively traveled throughout Asia, Central America and Europe seeking holistic practices and techniques. The bestselling author has also helped thousands to heal themselves and prevent chronic conditions such as diabetes, heart disease, thyroid disease, arthritis, cancer and many other serious health conditions.
