

Jason Smith, CPA Helps Businesses Protect Assets and Secure Wealth

SCOTTSDALE, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, September 10, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Certified Public Accountant (CPA), Jason Monroe Smith of Scottsdale, Arizona helps local businesses and individuals protect their assets and wealth by implementing reliable strategies and comprehensive plans.

“Asset protection is about using techniques that are within the limits of the law to protect assets of people and businesses from legal action and the threat of litigation,” explained Jason Smith, CPA and CFP. “These strategies will also protect against creditors.”

Individuals should consider asset protection strategies when they have a sudden windfall of money such as through an inheritance or lawsuit. If this wealth is a new experience, Jason Smith urges individuals to start the protection process right away.

“Assets deal predominantly with large sums of money but can also encapsulate rental property, owned property, contracts for service, and more,” continued Jason Smith. “Whatever it might be, if someone or a business has something of significant monetary value, it would be wise to protect their wealth and protect it wisely.”
