About Rick Redalen

Rick Redalen, MD, also known as The Maverick Doctor, is a retired American physician, entrepreneur, and philanthropist. Dr. Redalen has practiced medicine for nearly fifty years. His medical career focused on family medicine, general surgery, and obstetrics. After retiring as a physician, Redalen began to focus on ways to improve the quality and delivery of patient care and information. Exit Care was founded in 1996 and was a software company formed for the purpose of providing patient education. Over the next fifteen years, ExitCare became the premier model and gold standard in the medical industry for patient information and education. ExitCare educational materials were provided in a dozen languages and provided patient education to seven of the largest healthcare IT companies in the world. After capturing 60% of the American Hospital market, ExitCare became international in scope and was continuing to grow when Redalen sold the company to Elsevier, a publishing company based in Amsterdam in September 2012. Dr. Redalen writes an active blog at <https://www.maverickdoctor.com>.
