1. South Florida

Enjoy the best of Florida's most well-known and populous regions with a trip to South Florida and the Gold Coast, the long, unbroken stretch of beach that begins in the north in affluent Palm Beach and runs all the way to Miami's Art Deco streets. In the middle, the "Venice of America," Ft. Lauderdale — a coastal city that also features hundreds of miles of inland canals and waterways that make for fun explorations. Sample the region's diverse fine dining or dance the night away in any one of the nation's hottest nightclubs — then recover to the sounds of the surf as you relax on the beach the next day.

2. Orlando

Prefer something different, or want to experience the world's premier theme park attractions? A sojourn inland to the city of Orlando is just what you need. With easy access to Disney, Universal Studios, and all the many attractions in nearby Kissimmee, Orlando is your gateway to the abundant vacation opportunities to be had in Central Florida. The perfect place for families, there's never a shortage of things to do here.

3. Las Vegas

Experience the gold standard in accommodation for tourists in the jewel of the desert, Las Vegas. Whether you love to push your luck at the table games, test your skill at poker, or revel in the majesty of best-in-show entertainment, Vegas has something for everyone. Did we mention the incredible restaurants or the nearby natural attractions such as the Grand Canyon and Joshua Tree National Park? No matter how many times you visit Vegas, there's always something new.

4. Puerto Vallarta, Mexico
