

Presentation released from Sponsor Leonardo for the Military Flight Training Conference next week

SMi reports: Leonardo is set to sponsor, exhibit and present at the Military Flight Training Conference in London, next week

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, October 3, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- With less than a week to go until SMi's 8th Annual Military Flight Training Conference, taking place on the 9th-10th October 2019 in London.

Delegates will have the opportunity to take part in front-line discussions with a view to maximising military flight training capabilities for the fast-jet, fixed-wing and rotary-wing aircraft of the 21st century, addressing key updates and critical issues surrounding the topic of Military Flight Training.

Prior to the conference, a sponsor presentation has been confirmed from Eduardo Munhos de Campos, VP Product Solutions, Leonardo on 'Leonardo Solutions for Military Pilot Training'. He will be presenting on:

- An all jet training syllabus, airmanship development from screening without compromises
- Live, Virtual, Constructive: the fastest way to combat readiness
- Teaching effectiveness, what are the best tools for military training
- Technology helping cost and time reduction

With less than a week remaining until the event, there are increasingly limited places left. Interested parties are advised to register soon to secure a place. Register at <http://www.militaryflight-training.com/einpr11>

The 2019 agenda will include extensive highlights, where attendees can benefit from an international military speaker line up, along with the opportunity to hear from military perspectives underlining the economic move towards synthetic training and advanced simulators. The event will also provide briefings on the military flight training and capabilities as up to date as possible to prepare pilots for ever-more dynamic air operations.
