Top 10 Occult films to watch on Occultrama:

1. Hermetica Komhata HK320: a masterpiece of metaphysical Science fiction made by a mad scientist of dubious provenance, claiming to belong to the scientific breed, the Ofites. A Nephilim (half human/half demon) who called himself Dr. Joseph H. Stanislaw and applied the theories of the Kabbalah and Spiritualism in the investigation of "Human Mental Projection"...

2. Left Hand Path: the art, philosophy, and religion of black magic practitioner James C. Kirby is explored while he creates a unique piece of jewelry using the ancient art of Lost Wax casting...

3. Cinemagician – Conversations with Kenneth Anger: iconic American filmmaker Kenneth Anger has inspired generations of creative storytellers since the late 1940s. He is a unique visionary who drifts from pure poetry within his magical filmmaking to sardonic gossip in his bestselling "Hollywood Babylon" books. In-between these extremes we find a person who never tires of exploring his own creativity. In this intimate documentary, Anger lets us in on his fascinating life story, his approaches to filmmaking, and his relationship to British occultist Aleister Crowley...

4. Alchemy: an epic transformation manifests from a seemingly routine interview. As time elongates, a failed everyman finds himself tormented while working through pages and pages of questions. He battles the unknown, plunging deeper into isolation, ultimately transcending into a heightened reality, discovering a new life between multiple worlds, familiar and otherworldly...

5. The Missing Sun: the Light knows you. Suspecting her husband is having an out-of-body affair with an ex-lover, Alma attempts to bring him back to reality with help from an estranged, drug-addled step-son and the leader of a new-age religion...
6. SHIVTA: a cinematic and kinetic exploration of two lost desert wanderers. In a form of Fata-Morgana, a doubtful portal appears in the distance. Curiosity takes over and the two, as the narrative rolls forward, find themselves bewitched and possessed by a celestial fortune teller...
7. The Morgenstern & Boyd Trilogy: a spiral of sexual obsessions and omnipotent fantasies, at the end of which there can only be the failure of the film or death itself...
8. Decadent Asylum: a journey of the spirit to higher realms of consciousness...
9. Tau, the Daemon and the City: the story takes place somewhere between the contemporary world and the ancient times of myths, spirits, and daemons. The film also explores cultural archetypes showing the eternal conflict between centralized and decentralized structures, between pyramids and networks...
10. Once The Toothpaste Is Out Of The Tube: An Art Apart – Charles Gatewood: American photographer Charles Gatewood started out in the 1960s as a young man with dreams of showing the world the radical cultural developments that were going on in his country. He met many of the iconic instigators of change and documented them for posterity. As the decades passed, Gatewood drifted more and more into a personal expression of sexual subcultures, both in America and abroad...
