

Integrated Medical of Ohio offering revolutionary ShockWave therapy as a part of their Male Sexual Wellness Program

Integrated Medical of Ohio now offering state-of-the-art ESWT (Extra Corporeal Shock Wave Therapy) to treat ED

INDEPENDENCE, OHIO, UNITED STATES, October 17, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- ESWT (Extracorporeal Shock Wave Therapy) uses the power generated from acoustic sound waves and radial shockwaves to stimulate blood vessel growth called neovascularization. This process forms new blood vessels, increasing much-needed blood flow to the region. While this treatment has been used successfully in a number of orthopedic areas, which include fractures, joint inflammation, and plantar fasciitis, researchers and several studies have shown that low-intensity ESWT is helping men suffering from erectile dysfunction. There are more studies being presented on a daily basis and the success rates are significant. Sexual wellness is a growing concern among today's adults; there are many causes including lifestyle, environment, genetics, and illness. ESWT provides a non-drug oriented solution.

Research shows that ESWT is non-invasive therapeutic modality that is effective, convenient and safe.”
Joy Vale, Patient Care Coordinator

Paula Abbott, CNP of Integrated Medicine of Ohio stated, “Decreased blood flow to the penis is the most common causation for difficulty attaining and maintaining erections. Blood flow to the penis is a crucial component in the firmness of erections. Increasing vascularity to the penis and thereby blood flow, erections prove to be firmer and longer-lasting. Utilizing our protocol with our male enhancement device has been shown to provide significant improvement for male sexual wellness.” “Research shows that ESWT is a non-invasive therapeutic modality that is effective, convenient and safe,” says Joy Vale, Patient Care Coordinator for the clinic. “I love the fact that there is now a natural solution to such a common problem.”
