

New 360 Camera from 360Rize makes it easy for Schools and Universities to get into Virtual Reality for around $100

360Rize's new 360 Action Camera has made everything easier and now affordable for everyone including the educational system.

OLEAN, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, October 28, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- 360Rize's new 360 Action Camera has made everything easier and now affordable for everyone including the educational system.

At \$159 on 360Rize's website and limited time only of \$114.99 on Amazon, this camera, beats out its competition in some cases by hundreds of dollars without loss of functionality.

It's a normal point and shoot action camera that's 360 virtual reality ready. One push button on the front starts and stops the 360-degree recording video and audio; pull out the SD card and load directly into the virtual reality headset and your viewing 4K 360 videos or 24 mega-pixel 360 photos in a matter of seconds in VR. And don't worry, the 360 content can be shared to any social media platform directly from the micro SD card, iPhone or Android. Its two 220-degree lens makes it the perfect ultra-wide viewing camera that captures everything that happening "All Around You™". It can work on its own or be used with any Apple and Android mobile device, even 360 live streaming to Facebook or YouTube. “The response from schools and universities has been incredible,” says, Michael Kintner, CEO/Founder of 360Rize. The camera makes a perfect entry point into the world of virtual reality for students and faculty. It's loaded with high tech functionality, like its competitors, but in many cases, it's one quarter the cost of its competition.

The camera includes all the extra mounts needed to connect to any action camera mount, weighs only 2.4 ounces and has a battery life that lasts up to an hour and a half.
