Volvo warranty expired? You can now find a vehicle protection plan from autopom!

"The primary difference between our plans and the ones offered by a manufacturer like Volvo is that we are an authorized third-party broker/seller of extended vehicle service contracts representing major direct insured service contract companies," explains Mike Jones, president and CEO of autopom!.

"Another notable difference is that you can choose your own repair facility with our plans whereas many plans sold by dealerships require you to return to the dealership service center for repairs," adds Jones.

Drivers with an expired Volvo warranty are encouraged to contact autopom! to learn more about the services offered.
