PUNE, MAHARASTRA, INDIA, November 4, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Casein and Caseinates Market

Caseins are proteins found in milk; they have an essential amino acid composition, which is required for the development and growth of humans. Caseins are profoundly absorbable in the digestive system. They are used for food and non-food applications. Growth of the global casein and caseinate market is mainly driven by rising health awareness and new functional food product launches, growing disposable income, increasing promotional activities and growing demands for protein-enriched food products. Global casein production accounted for 333.3 Metric Tons whereas caseinate accounted for 2143.1 Metric Tons. Other trends driving the growth of the casein and caseinate market include growing awareness about the health benefits of specific milk components.

North America dominated the casein and caseinate market with over 33.8% market share in 2014 and is anticipated to remain dominant by 2025. Western Europe and Asia Pacific Excluding Japan collectively accounted for over 37% of the total casein and caseinate market share in 2014. Among all the regions, Asia Pacific Excluding Japan is anticipated to register the highest CAGR between 2015 and 2025, followed by Latin America due to increasing infant formula market and reduction in trade barriers in the ASEAN region coupled with rising demand of food and beverage
