

EMPRESS's Inspiring Anthem – We Own this Crown – Drops November 8th

Stardust World Productions is excited to announce the November 8th release of EMPRESS's third single off her debut EP – "We Own This Crown."

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, November 5, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Stardust World Productions is excited to announce the November 8th release of EMPRESS's third single off her debut EP – "We Own This Crown." The song will be available across all streaming and purchasing platforms, and EMPRESS will perform it live for the first time this month.

EMPRESS wrote "We Own This Crown" as an anthem to inspire people to be the ruler of their own life. The inspirational words dip and dive with the dynamic tune, taking the listener on a journey that entrusts the audience to take empowerment into their own hands and own it.

"I wrote this while watching the TV show 'Versailles,' and noticing the emotion surrounding the crown," EMPRESS shared. "With it came power, but it never seemed like a personal power. The crown gets passed down, never truly belonging to the individual. Yet, it has such a profound effect on everyone around it – the person wearing it, and everyone who comes in contact with them. I just thought, how cool would it be if we each had our own crown? How would it change our relationships with people?"

I can't wait to help people visualize themselves in their own crown! Augmented reality is the next disruptor in the industry, and I'm excited about how we can use it to enhance the experience.”
