

Young Musical Prodigy Wows Crowd with National Anthem Performance at Recent Sacramento Kings Game

With the ability to play more than 100 musical instruments, Neil Nayyar, 14, showcased his saxophone skills while honoring breast cancer survivors.

ELK GROVE, CA, USA, November 11, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- This week Neil Nayyar's dream of playing the National Anthem at a major sporting event came true. On Thursday, the 13-year-old performed on saxophone the Star Spangled Banner during the Sacramento Kings' home game against the Denver Nuggets.

"It was truly an honor and a humbling experience to play the National Anthem at the recent NBA game here in Sacramento. I'm so grateful for having been given this opportunity," Neil said. "I've been preparing and looking forward to playing my sax in front of everyone for months.

During Neil's recent performance, breast cancer survivors joined him on the court in honor of the many people living with the disease and those who've passed from it. As the players and fans stood for the National Anthem, the breast cancer survivors proudly took center stage while holding a portion of a large American flag.

“The survivors who joined me on the court are all so brave. They provide hope to those who are currently battling the disease and serve as reminders that breast cancer doesn't necessarily have to be a death sentence,” Neil explained. Neil now joins a coveted list of musicians who've performed at the Golden 1 Center Arena during a Sacramento Kings' game, including six-time Grammy nominee B.o.B., pop culture icon and rapper Vanilla Ice, hip hop artists T-Pain, Jay Sean, rapper Tyga and many more.

The multi-talent teen shows no signs of slowing down. In late-September, he performed at a fundraising event in Fremont, CA for former U.S. Vice President Joe Biden who is currently running for U.S. president.

On Nov. 5th and Nov. 8th, Neil will perform for Kaiser's Employee Award Ceremony at Kimpton Sawyer Hotel in downtown Sacramento. Neil will also perform in Las Vegas, Nevada on November 17th as part of an event sponsored by Celebration of Music, a talent search that showcases the best young musical talent across America. He's also been invited to perform for the United Nations Sacramento Chapter and at a fundraising event for City of Elk Grove Mayor Steve Ly.

On Nov, 30th, Neil will be performing solo on two stages, Elk Grove Blvd Stage and Main Plaza Stage at Dickens Street Faire in Elk Grove.

"Whenever I get a request to perform, it is such an honor. I'm looking forward to performing at each of these upcoming events," stated Neil. "I also can't wait to see what 2020 has in store for me. I feel like I am just warming up and big things are on the horizon."

He recently signed an acting contract in Los Angeles through Conquest Management where he hopes to have the opportunity to be featured in upcoming commercials/TV/movies in both Hollywood and Bollywood.

In the meantime, he is currently writing music for his debut album which will feature all 107 instruments that he plays perfectly.
