These dedicated practitioners intend to empower people by putting the tools of wellness and the treatment of chronic diseases directly into the hands of health consumers. Get Your Life Back Now! is the rare health conference that pairs the pioneers and paradigm-changers of medicine directly with those suffering with chronic conditions such as auto-immune diseases, fatigue, inflammation and other ailments that benefit from lifestyle management.

Gallagher, a Film & TV Producer, and Creator of the new online show, GYLBN, is a 5x cancer survivor who is passionate about sharing what she has coined as “Merge Medicine”, combining the best of traditional, integrative and allopathic healing modalities. “I was given only one year to live over 20 years ago. That was unacceptable to me. I took a ‘hands on approach under the supervision of re-known cardiologist, Doctor Lee Cowden, and other highly accomplished MD’s from both allopathic and integrative medicine. I created GYLBN as a way to share my Doctors and help people learn what I learned. It’s time for people to advocate for their own health – to detox, regenerate and create the personal power health plan they deserve.”
