Jatheon Technologies Inc. Adds New Features to Cloud Email Archiving Platform

Jatheon Technologies Inc, a data archiving company based in Toronto, announces another major update to its cloud-based email archiving solution, Jatheon Cloud.

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, November 19, 2019 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Jatheon Technologies Inc, a data archiving company based in Toronto, is announcing another major update to its cloud-based email archiving solution, Jatheon Cloud.

Among the newly-added features are the improved import section, where account administrators can now select all files for ingestion instead of selecting them manually. Other important updates in this release include the ability to import users to Jatheon Cloud through LDAP, as well as the ability to initiate a password reset for a particular user. However, by far the biggest change is the addition of the MSP Platform to Jatheon Cloud. This major enhancement will allow Managed Service Providers to have and manage their own clients on Jatheon's cloud email archiving platform.

Jeff Marlow, Jatheon's VP Business Development, is happy that the platform is growing and is especially excited about the update concerning MSPs: "Given our 15-year long experience in providing email archiving technology, we are aware that small and medium-sized businesses have limited IT capabilities and often cannot manage data archiving on their own. On the other hand, public agencies and school districts face budgeting limitations. In such cases, organizations often choose to contract with MSPs. When designing the MSP platform on Jatheon Cloud, it was our mission to accommodate those organizations which are not able to manage an archiving solution independently and simultaneously offer a simple, yet comprehensive platform to MSPs. I would use this opportunity to invite MSPs working with email archiving technology to take a look at our solution."
