Schude is known for his large-scale, single-frame tableaux that are packed with sophisticated action; mingling surrealism and Americana with a touch of contemporary humor. In this latest body of work, Schude's subjects intermingle with monumental exterior environments. Often viewed from a heightened perspective, forces of nature become part of each character's open narrative.

Schude has recently collaborated with Laura Miner on a Tableau Vivant for the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art which highlighted the employees, and their artwork created outside the museum as the subjects of the narrative. Schude intends to extend this approach to organizations around the world and has begun with CENTER in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and the Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, California.
