The founder of the I Change Nations Challenged Champions and Heroes. Dr. Robin Lococo, announced The official National Awareness Day is July 29th.

HESPERIA, CALIFORNIA, USA, November 25, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The founder of the I Change Nations Challenged Champions and Heroes. Dr. Robin Lococo, announced The official National Awareness Day is July 29th. "We want the entire world to acknowledge the Challenged Champion and Heroes on this day every year. When we accomplish this we can make the world a better place." Dr. Robin Lococo, has a passion to see the differently abled and their caregivers honored for the positive contributions they bring to the world.

The guiding principles of Challenged Champions and Heroes is to bring recognition to the champion, which is the person with special needs and the Hero, which is the caregiver, the one that takes care of the provision and service for special needs individual.

The Announcement was made at the Rock'n our Disabilities and Challenged Champions and Heroes Awards event in Hesperia, CA. On Nov. 21, 2019 at the Courtyard Marriott. The founder of Rock'n our disabilities Dana Hernandez is truly a remarkable lady that has two special needs children. This is the motivation that has caused her to create this amazing organization that transforming the High Desert of California. She gathered the special needs community of the high desert along with Dr. Robin Lococo to award them for their service to humanity. It was a great event with awards presented to well over 60 people that night and the other awardees will receive their awards at a later date and the numbers will reach 100 awardees. Dr. Lococo states, "We are very proud of each family and their special needs children for enhancing our community. We are looking for global support of this awareness day."

Not only was Dana Hernandez honored for all her sacrifices and hard work, San Bernadino Deputy Sheriff Greg Jones was also honored for his work with the disabled and special needs children. They and several others where honored by California State Senator Scott Wilk, who provided an official proclamation from the California State Senate.
