Clarke & Rush was chosen to install new air conditioning and heating units at Jesuit High School Enhancing Athletes Indoor Comfort

SACRAMENTO, CA, USA, December 2, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Recently, Clarke & Rush had the pleasure of working on an iconic Sacramento HVAC project. Over the summer, they received an invitation to bid on the HVAC project at the well known Fr. Joseph Barry S.J. Gymnasium at Jesuit High School.

Clarke & Rush was contracted to install new air conditioning and heating units at the school. The Sacramento HVAC contractor first removed three rooftop heat only air handlers, then reinstalled three new Trane air handlers fitted with chilled and hot water coils. Also, they fit all the water piping associated with the units with chilled and hot water coils. The addition of the chilled water helps with the cooling of the gym and theater providing a more comfortable learning environment for the students, staff, and spectators.

The project began in June and the total time spent on site was about two months. The gymnasium and adjacent gym annex heating and cooling systems were completed in August.
