Kids sign the drug-free pledge after learning the truth about drugs during the drug-free kids drawing contest.

One mother of a 10 year old girl said, "I brought my daughter because I wanted her to start being aware of the dangers of drugs and this was a great way for her to learn, in a friendly environment."

There were prizes for the top winners in different age categories, as well as, prizes for all who participated. This made all of the children happy.

The Way to Happiness is a non-religious moral code based on common sense with 21 precepts to living a better life. Part of Precept #2 is "Do not take harmful drugs."

"We thought a drawing contest would be a fun way to teach this precept to young children," said Ivan Batalla the Deputy Executive Director of the Way to Happiness Association of Tampa Bay. "And partnering with the Foundation for a Drug-Free World to help educate the kids was a perfect fit."

The FDFW provides free drug education materials, including The Truth About Drugs documentary DVD and 14 different informational booklets on the most commonly abused drugs - such as marijuana, alcohol, painkillers and heroin. Anyone can get copies to share with their families and friends.
