Your Boat Holiday is launching a project dedicated to the sea turtles rescue and the marine eco-system.

MILANO, IT, ITALY, December 11, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The sea turtles rescue is a global issue that involves everyone. Because of the inattention and carelessness of most of the people, these protected specimens risk dying wedged in fishing nets, plastic waste and cement remain. Unfortunately, this cause does not seem to really affect how it should, or at least not so much as to lead to active intervention.

There are many campaigns and associations that dedicated their time and energy to the marine turtles and similar missions, like the WWF.

Being able to raise more people as possible, making them understand the gravity of this situation and the need for real contributions, would only be the beginning of a process so long so difficult to spread.

That's why our company, that organize private yacht charters all over the world, providing top quality services and assistance, is launching a project dedicated to the marine turtle's rescue and on how to allow everyone to save them.

This is the fact, actually, every one of us can make the difference, just spending a little bit of time to this cause.
