

Invite from Lynne Ensor chair for Pharma Microbiology East Coast Conference, April 2020, Boston

Smi Reports: Invitation from conference chair Lynne Ensor for Pharmaceutical Microbiology East Coast 2020 in Boston

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS, UNITED STATES, December 11, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SMI's 3rd Annual Pharmaceutical Microbiology East Coast Conference is scheduled to take place the April 29th – 30th, 2020 in Boston. Attendees can expect a wide array of microbiology expert speakers from leading pharmaceutical companies to meet and collaborate on all aspects of Pharmaceutical Microbiology. With advances in rapid microbiological methods, constant regulatory updates, enhanced knowledge of innovation therapeutics, and novel testing methods, this industry is ever expanding.

This year's conference Chair, Lynne Ensor, Ph. D., Vice President, Technical, Parexel International has released an invitation letter for this highly anticipated event. Excerpt of the chair letter includes:

"I am honored to serve as Chair for SMI's 3rd Annual Conference on Pharmaceutical Microbiology East Coast and on behalf of SMI Group, I would like to cordially invite you to join this compelling conference and post-conference workshop in Boston, MA, on April 29 - 30, 2020.

I have recently transitioned from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration where I was a regulator for nearly 21 years supporting the manufacture of quality, safe and effective biopharmaceuticals. As a microbiologist and former regulatory, I am keenly aware that it is critical in our industry to maintain awareness of the regulatory expectations for intended global markets, advancing technological developments, and lessons learned from those with experience with the implementation of emerging technologies into their manufacturing and/or testing procedures..."

For those interested in attending, there is an early bird discount of US$400 for bookings made by December 13th, 2019. Register at www.microbiologyeastcoast.com/EINpr2
