

Baby Oil with Natural Ingredients Trends as Amazon's Choice

Mori of Norway's recently launched baby oil has received the coveted Amazon's Choice badge. This eco-friendly and natural product is AllergyCertified.

AURLAND, NORWAY, December 12, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mori of Norway is pleased to announce that its AllergyCertified, Nordic Swan Ecolabelled, and COSMOS ORGANIC-certified baby oil is now an Amazon's Choice product. According to the brand, this unscented and naturally formulated product cleans, moisturizes and protects babies' delicate skin and also works extremely well as a massage oil. When used in combination with essential oils, it also produces a potent blend. The manufacturer mentions that this oil can be added to bathwater or applied directly to moist skin.

The product was awarded the Amazon's Choice badge because of its stellar performance so far on Amazon UK. This badge is Amazon's way of recognizing certain products in the marketplace that are selling well and are well-recommended by Amazon shoppers.

Recommending the product, an impressed user mentioned, "This is such a lovely oil. I use it for my 8-month-old in his bath, and his skin is so soft and smooth afterward. I like that it's unscented and made with organic ingredients — only the best for my little one! I also like to support companies that care for the environment and their customers, so thumbs up from me."

The range of natural products from Mori of Norway also includes an unscented nappy cream. "When applied after a diaper change,
