

Handed Down Gives Families a Fun Way to Preserve Special Recipes

Share treasured recipes with family and friends with the new Handed Down App

SAN FRANCISCO, USA, December 13, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Your Grandma's signature lasagna, your Uncle's sizzling six-beer chili, or your Dad's famous steamed crab? There are certain recipes that you want to make sure you have tucked away somewhere safe, so those flavors that remind you of home aren't lost forever. And while cloud backup has become the norm for important work documents and family photos, those cherished family recipes are still more often not written down on stained paper in a drawer in the kitchen.

Our goal with Handed Down is to give families a way to share those special moments in the kitchen and at the table with their loved ones, and, if they want to, with the world.”

With Handed Down, your prized family recipes are never out of arm's reach.

Now, there's Handed Down. Handed Down is available on the App Store and the Play Store. The app (designed by Integral App Studio) is a fun way for families to get together and share their secret sauces, delicious dishes and fan favorites in a way that preserves them for generations to come, yet keeps them just a swipe away when needed. With Handed Down, users can leave a food legacy for their families, using text, images and even video to show future generations how to get the color on that bux JUST right.

“Making good food is an important way to pass down shared experiences,” says Handed Down CEO Tera Schifferer. “Our goal with Handed Down is chefs/cooks/bakers and receive updates whenever their chef makes a new post.

“As time goes by, family members get spread out around the globe,” says Tera Schifferer. “With Handed Down, we can make sure that families can preserve those special moments, even when they can’t be in the same physical space.”
