Palo Alto, CA – March 2, 2020 – The Radicati Group releases “Email Statistics Report, 2020-2024” a new market study which provides data and key statistics on business and consumer adoption of Email and Mobile Email. The study includes data on the number of business and consumer users and accounts, user demographics, four-year forecasts for on-premises and cloud email accounts, breakouts by business size, vertical industry, email traffic volumes, average number of daily emails sent and received per user, email storage data, and more.

According to the report, the number of worldwide email users, including both business and consumer users, will grow from over 4.0 billion in 2020 to nearly 4.5 billion by 2024. Email is still the most pervasive form of electronic communication for both business and consumer users and is integral to the overall online experience. Protecting against spam and malware attacks, however, remains a key concern for organizations of all sizes.
