LONGMONT, COLORADO, USA, December 30, 2019 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cannovia, a leader in the CBD industry today announced the launch of its first annual 'Share Your CBD Story' contest.

In announcing the contest, Cannovia CEO Brian Baum said, "with the legalization of hemp farming last year, CBD has taken the wellness market by storm. People across the country are talking about CBD or, in many cases trying to understand what it is and does."

Baum added, "it is unfortunate for those seeking knowledge that many find themselves overwhelmed and downright confused by the copious amounts of CBD information 'out there'. Understanding is often further hindered with inaccurate facts and exaggerated claims."

The 'Share Your CBD Story' contest aims to have those using CBD share their experience. A recent Gallup survey reports that "1 in 7 US adults are already using a CBD product in some way." At this time of year when many are assessing the New Year, we thought it was ideal timing to have CBD consumers share so others can learn. At Cannovia we believe there is no better teacher than truth from those with personal, real-life experience, said Baum.

The contest is open to any adult over 18. There are two ways to participate and everyone "wins":

- Submit your story – stories can be a very simple statement, or detailed. Describe how you use CBD to support your wellness; or why you have been considering using CBD. The story with the most votes WINS. (Participants can share their story with friends and family to gain votes.)
- Vote only – you may not have a story to share but are interested in learning from those that do. Read the stories, pick and vote for your favorite. One 'vote-only' participant will be randomly selected to also WIN.
- All participants – will receive a one-time use coupon code for a 25% discount on any Cannovia purchase at <https://cannovia.com/buy-cbd-oil-online/>

No purchase is necessary to participate in the contest or to win.
