The National University (Beheshti) students protested against an orchestrated gathering of Bassij paramilitary agents, who were brought to the scene as "students." The Bassij agents were forced to flee the scene quickly. Students chanted: "If you are a student, why is your face covered?" "If you are grieving, why did you sit for three days?" "Be afraid, be afraid, we are all together," and "Our enemy is here, they lie that it's America."

Students at the Pardis arts department also staged protests and chanted: "We are empty-handed, put away your batons," and "death to liars."

Mrs. Maryam Rajavi, President-elect of the National Council of Resistance of Iran (NCRI), praised the protesting students, and called on all the people, especially the youth, to support them. She urged the United Nations Secretary-General, the UN Security Council, the European Union, member states, and all international organs supporting human rights to condemn the vicious suppression of protests by the people and students in Iran, to take immediate steps to free detainees, and to send an international delegation to visit prisons and prisoners arrested during the uprising.
