Washh, a pressure washing company serving the Charlotte, NC metro area, offers sanitation pressure washing packages to help combat the flu virus.

CHARLOTTE, NC, USA, January 29, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Flu season 2020 is upon the Carolinas and to assist their clients with preventing the spread of the virus, Washh is offering sanitation pressure washing. Using a specially formulated solution designed for the flu virus is the best way to disinfect surfaces during flu season. Many of Washh's customers have benefited from sanitation pressure washing.

Surfaces that are touched often by children harbor many bacteria and viruses, including the flu virus. Washh can pressure wash these surfaces, including outdoor play equipment like jungle gyms and swings, bicycles, and playhouses. Schools and daycare centers with these types of items need to be especially careful during flu season because young children are often more susceptible to picking up and passing on the flu. School pressure washing is an important measure to keep students safe from illness. Civic parks can also benefit from pressure washing their play equipment, benches, and outdoor water fountains.

Any business could use this service! If they have outside benches, chairs, or tables. It goes a long way to ensure your furniture is clean for your employees and clients.”

Nick Ventry, Managing Director

It goes a long way to ensure your furniture is clean for your employees and clients.” he adds, “I personally have more than 5 friends who have had the flu this year in 2020. We love to help businesses in this way.”

Shopping center pressure washing is something all development managers should stay on top of. Numerous people touch shopping carts everyday and the often provided cart wipes don't always kill viruses - just bacteria. By pressure washing shopping carts with EPA approved solution those viruses can be killed and help prevent patrons from passing on the flu virus.
