

Astrology Forecast for St. Valentine's Day 2020

Love Predictions for February 14th by America's Premier Astrologer, Magi Helena.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, February 12, 2020 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Valentine's Day can be the most romantic day of the year. But will the stars shine on lovers this February 14th?

According to Love Astrology Expert Magi Helena, "Just because it's Valentine's Day doesn't mean it's a good day for love, but in 2020 we get lucky. On February 14th, Sun is snuggled up with the Cinderella midpoint, making this a generally very good day for true love and for career too. It's also a very sexy day, with two of the planetary rulers of seduction nuzzling each other in the sky. Love at first sight is also a possibility for Valentine's Day if you meet someone new."

"Romantic whispers, emails and texts are favored, as poetic and creative stars can bless people with the right magic words for love," she continues. "However, there is also some commitment-phobia in Valentine's Day 2020 stars, so if making a commitment on this day isn't flowing naturally, don't force things! In fact, don't push any kind of agenda too hard – there is the possibility of power struggles, and no one will likely want to compromise or find win-win solutions under these influences."

Magi Helena concludes that, "Keeping it light and letting things evolve organically can make this an especially romantic and sexy Valentine's Day. Push, and you might regret it. Of course, your and your love's own personal cycles will also influence how the day goes, and whether or not it would really be the right timing to pop the question, or to say 'I will.'"
